DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Eto et al(5,301,031).

As to claims 1 and 3, Eto et al teach an LCD display comprising the steps of: receiving a data enable signal(1, R) for indicating a time interval when a video data exists; detecting an enable initiation time of the data enable signal(1, R); generating a reset signal at the enable initiation time of data signal(1, R); resetting a source shift clock(14 or CKH) for sampling video data(1, R) in response to the reset signal and the reset signal connected to a timing generating circuit(3) for generating a source shift clock signal(CKH)(see figures 1-2; column 3, lines 1-50 and column 4, lines 4-12).

3. Claims 2 and 4-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Eto et al in view of Sekido et al(5,999,158).

Eto et al fail to disclose a source driving circuit for latching video signal after sampling.

Sikido et al teach a source driving circuit having a latching circuit(4) for latching sampling video signal(see figure 4; column 3, lines 61-68 and column 4, lines 1-4). It would have been obvious to have modified Eto et al with the teaching of Sekido et al, so as to transfer sampling data signal to an LCD display panel(see column 4, lines 2-4).

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 6-7 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed on December 12, 2005 have been fully considered.

Applicants argue the 102 rejection based on Onda's reference is persuasive, the 102 rejection has been withdrawn.

Applicants argue that Eto et al do not teach a reset signal or resetting of a source shift clock on page 7. The examiner disagrees with that since Eto et al teach a reset signal(STH)(see figures 1-2 and column 2, lines 4-12).

Applicants argue that Eto et al do not teach a method for detecting enable initiation time of the data enable signal; generating a reset signal connected to a source shift clock source and resetting a source shift clock for sampling the video data on page 8. The examiner disagrees with that since Eto et al teach a method for detecting enable initiation time of the data enable signal(Hsyn); generating a reset signal(STH) connected to a source shift clock source(14 or CKH) and resetting a source shift clock(CKH) for sampling the video data(R)(see figures 1-2; column 3, lines 21-42 and column 4, lines 4-12).

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
